The Concept

While through the process of finding a concept for my UI/UX Project, I went through lots of ideas based on how can I Improve a situation by overcoming the currently existing problems which affect people who have difficulties to overcome that situation.

After multiple discussions and gathering information I arrived at the concept of helping travelers explore lounges in the airport catering to their personalised and dietary needs.

Luxurious