

Ideate

Feature Priorisation

Feature prioritization is the process of determining the importance, urgency, and order in which features or functionalities should be developed and implemented in a product or project. It involves evaluating and ranking different features based on their value, impact, feasibility, and alignment with the overall project goals and user needs.